2023 SÜDTIROL GARDENISSIMA: the winners are Daniel Hemetsberger e Christina Ager

The 25th Südtirol Gardenissima was won by Daniel Hemetsberger for the Men and by Christina Ager for the Women. The second and third place go respectively to Simon Jocher (D) and Christof Innerhofer, and for the Woman the Delago-sisters, Nicol and Nadia.

Val Gardena, 1 April 2023: 707 skiers representing 15 countries faced off on the long and demanding Seceda slope in occasion of the 25th edition of the Südtirol Gardenissima.

Director Giovanni Kasslatter and his team of experts and snow pros guaranteed the best possible conditions to ensure all participants had the same opportunity of scoring a good ranking. The slope, boasting 6 km and starting at the top of the Seceda (2,518 m) and ending at the Col Raiser (1,485 m), maintained outstanding conditions until the end of the race.

A sunny day, with temperatures around 2°C guaranteed the event's success, which kicked off at 8:30 and ended with the final participant descending the slope at 12:30.

The Men's winner was Daniel Hemetsberger with the best overall time of 3'38.98, followed by Simon Jocher (3'40.44) and Christof Innerhofer 3'40.74.

The Women's winner was Christina Ager with a great 3'47.90, followed by Nicol Delago (3'50.99) and Nadia Delago (3'52.12).

The first among our Ski Legends (Men) was Kristian Ghedina with a great time of 4'00.31, followed by Matteo Murer (4.04.28) e da Lukas Perathoner (4.14.55)

Verena Stuffer (4'07.54) topped the Women's category, followed by Isolde Kostner (4.11.78) e Daniela Ceccarelli (4.12.73).

The expectations for tomorrow's Südtirol Gardenissima Kids are high: after all, this race is dedicated to the champions of the future. Many ski clubs and associations have flocked to Val Gardena with their promising athletes from 10 different countries to take part in their very own, demanding giant slalom.
